Overview

Deangela “Dee” Bryson provides critical support to attorneys whose practices are devoted to representing clients before the Oklahoma Corporation Commission (OCC) and in Oklahoma appellate courts. With a strong understanding of regulatory procedures and administrative processes and a keen attention to detail, she handles docketing and assists with drafting, organizing and filing documents, managing case files, organizing and coordinating exhibits, serving as a liaison with client and vendors, and preparing for trial.

A veteran paralegal, Dee began her legal career in 1996 and has worked exclusively in the field of oil and gas law in Oklahoma over the span of four decades. Her career experience also includes working in restaurant management for 10 years.
