Jeri Fatheree joined McAfee & Taft in 2007 as a paralegal for the firm's aviation practice group. Jeri works directly with McAfee & Taft's aviation attorneys as an International Registry specialist for the International Registry of Mobile Assets, which was established as part of the Cape Town Convention. Her current responsibilities include requesting and consenting to professional user authority, reviewing transactions, preparing documentation for registration, and registering all forms of Interests on the International Registry to ensure that client interests in aircraft, engines and helicopters are protected and in compliance. Additionally, Jeri obtains aircraft and engine records for review, and prepares title memoranda and post-registration correspondence in a fast-paced, high-volume environment.

Prior to working at McAfee & Taft, Jeri worked for two Oklahoma City country clubs. Her experience includes administrative and management positions in the areas of office management, finance and human resources. Jeri graduated from Portland Community College with an associate's degree in science in 1998 and later attended Portland State University where she studied geology. In her off time she enjoys traveling with her husband, Perry.
