Overview

Cindy Porter provides specialized paralegal support to attorneys who serve as national discovery counsel for one of the nation's largest automakers. In this role, she is responsible for reviewing discovery requests and coordinating the collection and production of large volumes of documents used in litigation in courts across the United States.

Cindy began her legal career at the law firm of Young Conaway Stargatt & Taylor in Wilmington, DE, where she gained valuable experience in the areas of tax, estate planning, and real estate law. Upon relocating to Missouri in 2006, she worked as a corporate paralegal and later as a Realtor. Immediately prior to joining McAfee & Taft in 2017, she worked as a paralegal for a boutique litigation defense firm in Springfield, MO.

Cindy holds a bachelor's degree in financial management from the University of Delaware.
