Overview

As a certified paralegal with McAfee & Taft's global aircraft financing, title and registration practice, Abigail Smith works exclusively with attorneys whose practices are devoted to ensuring that client interests in aircraft and engines are protected and in compliance with Federal Aviation Administration regulations and procedures and the Cape Town Convention. Her responsibilities include examining FAA records for outstanding title and lien issues, reviewing instrument drafts, corresponding with involved parties to resolve issues, and assisting with closing transactions by preparing aircraft instruments for filing and recordation with the FAA.

Abigail graduated from the paralegal certification program at Oklahoma State University-Oklahoma City and earned her certified paralegal (CP) credentials from NALA – The Paralegal Association in 2024.

Prior to joining McAfee & Taft, Abigail worked as a paralegal for a boutique aviation law firm for one year and in the hospitality industry for more than five years.

Abigail is originally from Georgia and moved to Oklahoma City six years ago. In her free time, Abigail enjoys exploring her new state and spending time with her husky, Crue.
